

Manuel A. Selva, Jr., MD, MBA
Medical Advisor, United Health Foundation
Senior Medical Director, UnitedHealthcare Southeast Region

Dr. Manuel Selva has worked as a Medical Consultant for the United Health Foundation since 2002. As a representative of the United Health Foundation, Dr. Selva is responsible for providing health care information and medical care to the Hispanic community. Currently, Dr. Selva is the Marketing Medical Director for UnitedHealthcare in Florida, and is responsible for 400,000 commercial members in Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties.

Before joining UnitedHealthcare, Dr. Selva was Medical Director at Cigna HealthCare Mid-Atlantic in Columbia, Md.; General Medical Director at Cigna International in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Vice-President of Medicare at Cigna Healthcare in Bloomfield, Conn.; and Regional Medical Director for the Foundation Health Systems in Oakland, Calif. Dr. Selva received his university degrees from the Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington; the Medicine Department at the Universidad Autonoma de Guadalajara, Mexico; and the University of South Florida in Tampa, Fla. Dr. Selva completed the Fifth Pathway Program at New York Medical College in Staten Island, N.Y., and did his residency at St. Vincent Medical Center in Staten Island, N.Y.